ZACH

I'm glad you like it.

EVIE

You don't even get it. She's perfect.

ZACH

See? It matches your other one so you can start collecting to make a set.

As this dialogue is happening, KATE is slowly reaching for the door handle. She grasps it and slowly starts turning the knob.

EVIE

Ooh, yes. A set. I like it. It sounds fancy.

ZACH

Heck, yeah it's fancy.

KATE has slowly started opening the door so it's almost silent. She starts creeping down the stairs until she's just out of sight.

She sees Evie and ZACH sitting on the floor by a bed. Evie has an eyepatch on and a visible scar going through it. SHE is holding a doll and there's another doll in her lap. On the bed are stuffed animals and there's a small TV against the wall. There's also a doll house with a few other smaller dolls lying around it. It looks like a girl's bedroom.

EVIE

How many does it take to make a set?

ZACH

Uh, I don't know exactly. I'd probably say three.

EVIE

Then I need another doll?

ZACH

I guess so.

EVIE

Can I... maybe come pick it out? Please?

ZACH

Ha, you know what the answer to that one is.

EVIE

Please? Mom doesn't have to know. I promise I won't tell. Just one time.

ZACH

Evie.

EVIE

Aw.

Evie turns away from ZACH, pouting. She crosses her arms with a huff. There's a silence. Then, ZACH carefully grabs the doll out of Evie's lap.

ZACH

(In a high-pitched cartoon-ish voice) Aw, Evie.
Zach is awfully sorry for making you sad.

Evie makes a little hmph noise

ZACH (CONT'D)

We may not be able to go upstairs but we can still play down here with the coolest brother ever.

ZACH leans over and wiggles the doll in Evie's peripheral. Evie finally giggles and with the doll in her hand, she speaks.

EVIE

(in doll voice) I guess Evie will forgive Zach, but she wanted me to tell you that that's only gonna happen if you... do a cool trick!
